

Accessing immunisation information

Note: These steps assume that your software is connected to the My Health Record system, the patient has a My Health Record and their individual healthcare identifier (IHI) has been validated in your system.

1. To access the patient's My Health Record, select My Health Record from the top menu.

2. Select the Document filter and scroll to Immunisation Consolidated View, then click OK.

3. The document will appear in the patient document list. Double-click to open and view the document.

Note: You may also need to adjust the Document Date filter.

4. The Immunisation Consolidated View will display with the Australian Immunisation Register tab displayed by default. Details of a patient's immunisation status including details of next immunisation(s) will also be displayed if recorded in AIR.

Note: The Immunisation Consolidated View will display in the bottom half of the window. Click Show More to change to a full display.

The COVID-19 Immunisation Status field displays as:

- ‘This individual has received all required COVID-19 vaccines.’ if someone has had only one vaccine; or
- ‘This individual has received all required COVID-19 vaccines.’

If no COVID-19 vaccines have been received, the status isn’t displayed.

If there is additional information recorded in the AIR, this is displayed in a Notices section. This may include details about immunisation exemptions or participation in vaccine trials.

Note: The Australian Immunisation Register was expanded to include adult immunisations in September 2016, so any adult immunisations given prior to then will not be listed. The childhood version of the Australian Immunisation Register started in 1996, so younger people will have their childhood immunisations listed.
